

COMMUNITY SERVICES PROGRAM

The community services program covers community organizations, charities, educators, sporting volunteer groups, child and adult groups and other community associations.

There are thousands of non-profit community organizations that play a vibrant role in most communities and urban centres dating back decades. These organizations have touched the lives of many people across all ages and backgrounds. Unfortunately, these organizations contain risks and exposures that if not appropriately controlled could cause injuries and seriously damage your organization's reputation and ability to perform.

This program provides customized coverage and services that consistently set the standard for the highest level of protection available.

Some insurance companies struggle to understand the services and activities offer by Aboriginal communities such as community action planning for children, health and wellness strategies, youth services, fitness, nutrition, counseling, traditional spiritual healing, traditional healing ceremonies, mainstream/alternative healing methods (meditation, visioning, etc). In contrast, we are not only comfortable with these exposures, we recognize that there will be different, more challenging programs you'll want to offer tomorrow.

Our coverage is exceptionally comprehensive, and our premiums are very competitive and consistent year after year. By getting to know your management, programs, facilities and culture prior to quoting, we provide a rate that will accurately reflect your centres operation, and will not fluctuate substantially over the years.
